SECTION 1: DEFINITIONS

Occupational equipment generally means fixtures normally needed in a business or occupation for an efficient operation. Equipment includes apparatuses, machinery, and appliances, usually of a stationary nature during use, such as a computer or table saw. Occupational equipment is normally provided by the business rather than by employees.

Occupational licenses mean any license, permit or other written authority required by a State, city or other governmental unit to pursue an occupation or enter a small business.

Tools mean implements required for a worker to perform efficiently on the job which are normally furnished by the worker rather than by the employer. Examples are wrenches for an auto mechanic and a hammer for a carpenter.

SECTION 2: GENERAL GUIDELINES

A. These services are provided primarily to increase the individual's prospects of successful employment or self-employment. An individual with tools, licenses, and applicable equipment to open a small business or enter an occupation without having to incur heavy debts or to deplete all his/her resources has a greater chance of succeeding. These services, if needed, will be included in the individual's Individualized Plan for Employment (IPE).

B. The provision of these services is directed at providing the necessary resources required by an individual preparing to enter the competitive workforce or self-employment and are not generally related to a particular disability. Adaptive aids and appliances used to compensate for visual deficiency such as CCTVs, speech or Braille devices are not occupational equipment (see Chapter 13 - Rehabilitation Technology), nor is equipment related to health maintenance such as a glucose monitor or orthotics and prosthetics (see Chapter 6 –Health Services).

SECTION 3: SPENDING AND RELATED GUIDELINES

Equipment agreement

If the cost of a piece of equipment provided by DBVI to an individual is $500 or more, a written agreement between DBVI and the individual will be completed that includes the following provisions:

- 1) DBVI retains title;
- 2) The individual shall have full use and control of the equipment as long as it is used for the purpose for which it is being provided;
- 3) If no longer needed or used by the individual, or when its useful life is exhausted, it shall be returned to DBVI or otherwise disposed of as directed by DBVI; and
- 4) If an occupational pursuit undertaken by the individual is expanded in accordance with any plan or proposal approved by DBVI, DBVI may relinquish its title and grant, in writing, the right to sell or trade the equipment and to apply the proceeds toward the purchase of a new, larger, or more expensive replacement.

The Director or designee must approve any service or combination of services discussed in this chapter exceeding $5,000.

The spending guidelines will be reviewed by DBVI every three years with input of the State Rehabilitation Council.
